SKILLS

Functional :	Agile, Scrum, Problem Solving, Conflict Resolution, Team Leadership, Project Management
Technical :	Power Bi, Looker Studio, Ms Excel, Ms PowerPoint , Ms Word, Tableau , R, MySQL, LibreOffice
Analyst :	Analysts are essential in organizations, using data to inform decision-making and drive business success. Proficiency in Excel, R Studio, and Power BI is crucial for modern analysts working with complex datasets. Excel allows for organizing, analyzing, and visualizing data, while R Studio provides a user-friendly interface for writing and executing code. Power BI, developed by Microsoft, is a powerful data visualization platform that connects to various data sources, cleans and transforms data, and creates interactive reports. Mastering these skills can add value to organizations and advance careers.
Agile :	Agile project management is a flexible approach that emphasizes collaboration, customer feedback, and iterative development. The Gantt chart is a common tool used in Agile project management, visually representing the timeline and dependencies of tasks. It helps teams stay on track by providing a clear view of what needs to be done and allowing them to see how their work fits into the overall project timeline. However, Agile prioritizes flexibility over rigid planning, and the Gantt chart should be seen as a living document that evolves with the project.

ACHIEVEMENTS

- I was honoured to receive a prize for my social science model, a testament to my dedication to innovative research. This recognition motivates me to continue exploring and contributing to the field.
- Participating in the E-Summit 24 Stock Marathon Competition at IIT Bhubaneswar, I showcased my financial acumen and strategic thinking skills, enhancing my analytical abilities, and communication skills, and contributing to my ongoing pursuit of excellence in finance and investment analysis.
- I recently had the opportunity to participate in the prestigious IIIT Lucknow Options Ninjacollege trading contest, which was a challenging and enriching experience. The competition tested my skills in options trading, requiring a deep understanding of market strategies and risk management. My involvement in this contest allowed me to apply theoretical knowledge in a practical scenario, enhancing my decision-making abilities under pressure.
